SCHOOL DISTRICT

Inspiring excellence.

We are pleased to announce that Chartiers Valley School District, in conjunction with Collier Township and Scott Township, was designated as a 2014 Model Agency by the National Association of School Resource Officers (NASRO) for our School Resource Officer program.

According to NASRO, “Model agency awards are presented to Agencies that exemplify the NASRO Triad Concept, trainings, policies and standards. These practices ensure professional service to the school community and NASRO wants to recognize the following agencies for their creative and innovative approach to school based policing.”

In December 2012, Chartiers Valley School District began a partnership with Collier Township Police Department and Scott Township Police Department to create a School Resource Officer (SRO) program at Chartiers Valley. As a result, we now have a School Resource Officer at every campus.

Officer Bill Oslick from Collier Township was selected to be the High School/Middle School SRO, Officer Ed Povirk from Scott Township was selected to be the Intermediate School SRO and Officer Steve Oberle was selected to be the Primary School SRO. To begin their official duties as SROs, the officers attended NASRO’s basic SRO course at the end of January 2013. They began working in our schools in February 2013.

Chartiers Valley SROs are police officers who have participated in extensive training through the National Association of School Resource Officers (NASRO). NASRO promotes the triad concept, which requires SROs to serve as educators, informal counselors and law enforcement officers. Chartiers Valley’s SROs exemplify these roles on a daily basis.

“Chartiers Valley’s SROs lead us in our effort to ensure our schools are a safe environment for all students, faculty and staff,” said Dr. Brian White, Superintendent of Chartiers Valley School District.

“They have become an integral part of the education program at Chartiers Valley.”

Officer Oberle, Officer Oslick and Officer Povirk will be recognized for their efforts at Chartiers Valley at the 2014 NASRO School Safety Conference in July. Dr. Ronald Yasher, Chartiers Valley Coordinator of Administrative Services, will also attend the conference to represent the school district. Dr. Yasher works closely with all three Chartiers Valley SROs on a daily basis.
